

TO CREATE EACH MATTRESS,
HEER CAREFULLY SCULPTS
AROUND 33 POUNDS OF HORSE-HAIR INTO THREE LAYERS, TWO FEET HIGH.

above: In collaboration with Thomas van Asseldonk, Daniel Heer uses the „wedge“ method to combine wood and leather without glue or nails.

right: Daniel Heer constructs each horsehair mattress following his customers' wishes and according to the Heer family tradition.

The collections of handmade bags are manufactured with traditional leather craftsmanship methods.
